

National Reconciliation Week 2014

27 May to 3 June

Let's walk the talk!

All around Australia, National Reconciliation Week brings people together. It's a time to open our hearts, celebrate our diversity and get to know each other better. Framed by two significant anniversaries—the 1967 referendum and the 1992 Mabo decision—NRW reminds us that great achievements take courage and persistence. The next step is to complete our Constitution and recognise the First Australians, so let's walk the talk and make it happen!
