VOICES FOR RECONCILIATION

2026: BEDS ARE BURNING

Reconciliation Australia is calling on choirs across the country to come together in song to contribute to National Reconciliation Week 2026.

This year's song, Beds Are Burning, written and performed by Midnight Oil, is a powerful anthem that hit a chord nationally and internationally and became a defining soundtrack of the land rights movement.

The theme for NRW 2026 is All In, a call for all Australians to commit wholeheartedly to reconciliation every single day.

Beds Are Burning is a timeless call to action to be All In for justice and reconciliation, and for all Australians to know our history. Last year, over 700 choirs raised their Voices for Reconciliation, our largest ever turnout.

Register your choir or singing group to grab free arrangements and backing tracks at reconciliation.org.au to add your voices for reconciliation.

Reconciliation Australia thanks Midnight Oil and Sony Music Publishing for their support of Voices for Reconciliation. We sing in honour of the memory of Rob Hirst.
